

Faculty Senate Votes For Honors Program

The faculty senate of the University has approved the creation of an "Honors Program" to "encourage the maximum intellectual development of students of outstanding academic achievement," according to President James H. Halsey.

The program is expected to go into effect in September at the start of the 1962-63 academic year. Individual colleges and departments within the University may determine for themselves the extent of participation in the program.

Areas in which the honors program may be initiated include such categories as advanced placement, graduate work for undergraduate credit, independent study, seminars, special courses, special sections (of courses), study abroad, summer projects, and theses.

An "Honors Council" is to be established which will examine the various honors programs after approval by the relevant faculties. The council is to include President Halsey, Vice President Henry W. Littlefield, and several members of the teaching faculty, one of whom will serve as director of honors and serve as chairman of the council. Each college within the University is to be represented on the council.

The criteria for selection of honors students are to be determined by the honors council, which will also establish suitable responsibilities and recognition for this designation.

Dr. Halsey noted that inauguration of an honors program on the part of the faculty concerned is to be voluntary. Participation in the program on the part of students is also to be on a voluntary basis.

The University's art department plans to initiate honors sections during the spring semester, beginning Feb. 1.

Dr. William R. McKenzie, professor of education at the University has served as director of the study begun last September, of honors programs at other universities. His investigations led to the program adopted by the University.

Hill, Malerba Named Co-Editors of Scribe

Jim Hill, a junior majoring in industrial journalism, and Jim Malerba, a senior majoring in English, will serve as co-editors on the Scribe for the Spring semester, 1962, Victor E. Muniec, Advisor to the Scribe and Director of Public Relations, has announced.

Hill, a native of Spokane, Washington, has held the positions of News Editor and Copy Editor prior to his new appointment. He is treasurer of Kappa Beta Rho Fraternity and hopes to go into public relations or magazine work upon graduation.

Malerba, who lives in New Haven, is new to the Scribe, but has had some journalistic experience, having worked as sports editor on his high school newspaper. At UB, he was formerly a chairman of the Literary Society, a position which he held for one year. Upon graduation, Malerba hopes to work for the University in some capacity.

Bill Romeo, a senior majoring in industrial journalism, and Mike Walter, a sophomore political science major, were both assigned to an assistant editor's position. Rounding out the list of new appointments are Bart Needle, replacing Sid Paterson as Scribe photographer, and Steve Simpson, who will take over Walt Zuckerman's duties as circulation manager.

Junior College Building Opens

The University will place its new $700,000 Junior college building into operation with the opening of the spring semester classes today. Formal dedication will take place in the spring.

Construction of the two-story colonial-styled brick structure is part of the $1,000,000 expansion of the Junior College program at the University.

The new facility will house the Fones School of Dental Hygiene, Weylister Secretarial school, fashion merchandising department, nursing arts laboratory, nutrition laboratory and a mathematics laboratory as well as offices for the respective departments.

Classrooms, laboratories and offices, in the Junior College program, have been located primarily in Fones hall on the University campus. Laboratory facilities located in Fones hall are to be converted into classroom use and offices for the College of Education.

Construction of the Junior College building has made possible the expansion of the program of the Fones School of Dental Hygiene. Twenty additional dental hygiene chairs have been installed in the new laboratory bringing to a total of 40, the number of dental chairs now available for the program.

The Junior College expansion was made possible largely as the result of a $500,000 contribution from Charles Anderson Dana of Wilton (Conn.) and New York City. The University was founded as the Junior College of Connecticut in 1927 and it remains as an integral division of the University.

In addition to the two-year Junior College program, the University offers four-year curricula in the colleges of arts and science, business administration, engineering, education, and nursing. Graduate work is offered in education, business and engineering.

Education Adds Two to Faculty For Spring Term

Robert D. Kranyik and Richard N. Pratte have been appointed to the faculty of the College of Education at the University according to Dr. Arthur E. Trippensee, dean of the College of Education.

Mr. Kranyik will join the faculty as assistant professor of Elementary Education and Mr. Pratte will assume duties as an instructor in education. Both appointments will become effective for the spring semester on Feb. 1, 1962.

Mr. Kranyik is currently an assistant principal at the Oldfield (continued on page 4)

First Time Donors

Dana Cites Value of Study At Dana Scholar Program

"A life is limited without an education" stated Charles A. Dana to an audience of 550 students that honored 30 Dana Scholars recently at the second annual Dana Scholars' convocation at the University.

Dana explained that a person wishing to obtain any goal in life would "go forward by study." There exists an "equal opportunity to that of any college in the United States here at the University of Bridgeport," Dana observed.

The Dana Scholar program was established at the University two years ago as the result of a $79,800 gift from Dana. The scholarship program is intended to identify and encourage students of academic promise and good character who give evidence of future success in business, industry and the professions. Selection as a Dana Scholar is one of the highest honors available to a University student.

Dr. Henry W. Littlefield, vice-president of the University, stated while presiding at the convocation that Dana has made "investments rather than donations, in the University and its students." Dr. Littlefield said that he feels, and he hopes in accord with Dana, that the University and its Dana Scholars have fulfilled their benefactor's expectations and will continue to do so in future years.

Dr. Clarence D.L. Ropp, dean of the College of Arts and Science, in delivering the main address explained that the "University was unfortunate not to have known Mr. Dana during the earlier days of the school's existence."

Dean Ropp's talk centered around some outstanding people who had attended the University and would certainly have been deserving of the high honor of becoming a Dana Scholar. He had taken transcripts of grades for several previous University students to back his presentation of their success at the University and throughout their careers.

One student who received relatively low grades during his first semester here later displayed hard work and determination and eventually was awarded his associate's, bachelor's and Master of Science degrees. Dean Ropp told of another student who had excellent marks and the fine attributes of honesty, generosity, and a willingness to help others. This alumnus now has his doctorate degree and is chairman of the chemistry department at the University of Mississippi.

After each example of an outstanding University student, Dean Ropp repeatedly turned to Dana and said, "I would have strongly recommended him to you as a Dana Scholar Mr. Dana."

John Moser, spokesman for the Dana Scholars, stated that the scholars look upon their scholarships, "not as a gift but rather as responsibilities" and that the group of 30 plans to achieve Dana's standards throughout life.

The program for the convocation also included: invocation, the Rev. Harold M. Holbrook, chaplain, Newman Club; Description of Dana Scholarships, Dr. Donald W. Kern, Dean of Admissions and Registrar; introduction of Dana Scholars, Mrs. Ropp, secretary of the Dana Scholars selection committee; presentation of pins to the 1961-62 Dana Scholars by Dana; and benediction.

The 30 Dana Scholars were also feted at a luncheon in the new student center prior to the convocation.

To Buss or Not to Buss?

To Buss or not to Buss, that is the question? At least it is where the new Student Center Cafeteria is concerned, and a poll will be taken on Feb. 8-9 to determine your opinion.

In planning the New Student Center, the Cafeteria was designed to encourage self-bussing of tables. This self performed service would enable Mealtime Management to forego the necessity of hiring four extra people which they state would cost $220 per week. This makes it possible for them to keep prices at a minimum, while still affording the students and guests the pleasure of dining in a pleasant and clean atmosphere.

Since the opening of the building, however, there seems to be evidence, that this arrangement is not being followed. So that a future policy may be formulated to the satisfaction of the majority, the Political Relations Forum will conduct a poll on Feb. 8-9, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the new Student Lounge at the entrance to the cafeteria, where you may cast your vote on To Buss or Not to Buss.

It is hoped that all students will give this matter full consideration before casting their ballots, and will abide by the decision of the majority, when the votes are tallied.

New Editors Speak

The main purpose of a campus newspaper is to provide the student with an accurate, up-to-date account of activities and important events which are going on at the school. In doing this, the paper must be careful not to focus the majority of its attention on any one thing, especially in regard to political features and editorials.

The present editors feel that the Scribe is in existence only to serve the students at the University and is not meant to be a sounding-board for the various political groups which are active on the campus. Of course, some news of this type must be printed, but we shall do our best to keep editorial comment down to a minimum and let the different factions fight it out among themselves in their own "flyers."

Some changes are planned in the physical layout of the paper. The sports section will be enlarged to include more news from that department, and more sports photos will appear. Also planned is a picture page, which we shall run from time-to-time. This page will feature pictures of current campus events and will have no news as such. Stories about UB professors will also appear, and that old favorite of many, the crossword puzzle, will be revived.

The new editors of the Scribe will do their best to make the paper as representative as possible, with no partiality shown toward any one group or organization.

Letters to the Editor

During the break between semesters, several letters turned up at the Scribe office which were unsigned. These letters were promptly placed in the round file, for future consideration by our distinguished panel of trash collectors.

We can print no letter which comes to us without a signature. There is a very good reason for this: we have to protect ourselves, and the best way of doing this is to know the source of each letter. Naturally, we do not have to reveal the name of the writer to anyone, but we cannot be held responsible for the statements of someone who sends us a letter without a name attached to it.

In the past, names have always been withheld upon request, and this policy will be continued without change. If you do not wish to have your name appear at the end of your letter, then say so, and we shall be only too happy to leave it out. But if the letter is not signed at all (and it must be signed in full; not just with initials) then we regret to say that you will have wasted a perfectly good sheet of paper.

NSA ON CAMPUS

by Gene Gordon
NSA Coordinator

All colleges and universities on the East Coast which are member schools of the National Student Association will sponsor a conference on February 23, 24, and 25. The theme of the conference is to be "The Student in International Affairs." Host school is Columbia University.

The Student Council of the University takes seriously our membership in NSA and your NSA Coordinator is doing his utmost to meaningfully relate NSA to every student on campus. In keeping with this we are asking for two delegates to attend the aforementioned conference.

Our two student delegates will experience an exciting and informative weekend. They will register for the conference and receive room accommodations at the Hotel Paris. That night (Friday) they, along with hundreds of other students from schools as far away as Virginia, will hear a keynote address by a prominent public figure. Following this, Donald Emerson of Princeton University will welcome all the delegates. Emerson is the International Affairs Vice President of the National Student Association.

On Saturday morning all the delegates will break up into four areas of discussion; Asia, Africa, Latin America, and (Area 4) International Organizations. Some areas will be addressed by individuals, others will have panels. After preliminary and general discussion, areas will further break down into workshops; the workshops will concern themselves with such subjects as "Cuba and its Effect upon the Latin American Student Scene," "South Asia (India, Pakistan, Ceylon)" and "French Speaking Africa, The Congo, Angola, and Mozambique." These are only three of many interesting and important subjects to be discussed.

At 6:30 Saturday evening, delegates will be feted at a banquet, an excellent opportunity to dine and chat with students from various schools. Sunday is devoted to the closing session which will include various speakers.

The conference fee of $14.00 per person will be paid by the Student Council. Our two delegates will be expected to submit a full report on the proceedings of the conference to President Halsey, President Conroy of the Student Council, and to the NSA Coordinator. All interested students please contact me before Tuesday, Feb. 13.

Jacoby Lecture Tickets Required

Due to the widespread interest in the forthcoming Frank Jacoby lecture by Sen. Barry Goldwater at the University on Feb. 21, tickets will be required for admission, President James H. Halsey said today.

The lecture, which will take place at 2 p.m. in the Gym, is free and open to the public, as it always has been, Dr. Halsey noted. But the 3,000 seating capacity of the Gym will probably not be enough to accommodate everyone who wants to listen to Sen. Goldwater.

University students as well as faculty and staff members will be limited to one ticket each, which they must pick up by Feb. 10 in the Carlson library, Dr. Halsey stated. Distribution of tickets to the general public will begin on Feb. 12 on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Vox Populi

Student Attacks Walter's Style In YAF Letter

To the Editor:

In the Jan. 11 issue of the Scribe, which falls into my hands from time to time, I read with much interest a letter by Mike Walter, a convulsive attack upon the University YAF chapter, which in any university worthy of the name would create a scandal of transcending magnitude.

Whatever the particular indiscretions of YAF, or of its Liberal opposition, they become irrelevant before Walter's transgression, that of dealing frivolously with the prescriptions of intellect.

In a sense, it is the ultimate sin within an academic community, because it violates those standards of discourse which students and teachers have been charged with upholding. As a scandal, it is much in the order of a cop who pushes dope on his beat.

Walter's orgasmic response to uncongenial views is a denial of the function of his conceptual apparatus, an adjectival extravaganza of the sort which absorbs the energies of fanatics and ideologues but not, we hope, of young scholars, whose duty he profanes. He does not argue; he sneers.

He is tendentious: "Scapegoats and straw men have been used . . . by various factions (notably, and most recently Hitler's Nazism and Mussolini's Fascism) to divert attention . . . from real issues to petty, contrived nonsense and vulgarity. Leading the modern list of finger-pointers and insinuating garbage throwers . . . are the pied-pipers of YAF."

And captious: "In their latest publication of Renascence (known commonly as Repugnance) . . ."

He submits easily to hyperbole: " . . . nonsense, garbage, spout, dribble, seedy, maliciousness, slimey, queer hyenas . . ."

He is frivolous: "Perhaps one day soon, YAF will decide that the American frankfurter is really a symbol of a subversive organization and, hence, all eaters of hotdogs are suspects. Or maybe they'll think you're un-American for being partial to red apples . . ."

He is inarticulate when he speaks of the protection afforded "Congressmen from being liable for any remark he made on the floor of the legislature."

In a word, he is an oaf. I do not know how Walter has been or is being received at UB. At a university which instills in each of its students a respect for the canons of scholarship and a zest for the rigors of dialectic, partisans of every doctrine would unite to laugh the dolt from their halls.

Robert C. Adams.

Teacher Lauds Walter's Letter

To the Editor:

The recent letter of Mr. Walter regarding the "Renascence" is commendable. Since its inception, this publication has never been over-concerned with journalistic ethics, but with its recent issues it has achieved a real "yellow sheet" effect.

It is highly regrettable that a responsible faculty member agreed not only to lend his name to, but also to actively participate in this distasteful enterprise.

Student Defends YAF Statements

To the Editor:

In the Jan. 11 issue of the Scribe, a student condemned some statements made by the YAF, which I would like to reply to.

First, this student seems to be appalled by the fact that the YAF accused the State Department of treasonable activity. Either he is very naive or misled into believing that such an event is an im-

STUDENT COUNCIL BEAT

by Gene Conroy
Student Council, President

Unfortunately some of the low level organisms of our student body have been treating the new student center with the same respect they must have for themselves.

While walking through the new student center I've noticed a few doors in the building with large scratches in them, apparently the work of these college delinquents. Already various office supplies have disappeared from their respective offices. Within four days of operation the pool room had to be shut down in protest of students using the floor for ash trays. Wake up boys and girls — this is ours, mine and yours. Let's show at least one iota of respect for it.

Like any revolutionary change, the functioning of the new building, has left many wrinkles to be ironed out. Mrs. Hotchkiss, building director, is making a valiant effort to get the center functioning smoothly. I would like to petition each and every one of you to bear with and aid her whenever possible; remember, you or your organization are not the only ones on campus.

For the past few weeks the dining area has been the scene of mass confusion. Despite the expanded facilities, larger, slower moving lines have been the order of the day. This congestion stems from a compound source; first, students have failed to remain in orderly lines and, secondly, mealtime management has not fully utilized its facilities.

In speaking with the manager, Mr. Green, I have suggested that aisles be set up with the aid of ropes or railings leading to the hot meal and grill areas. Prescribed paths of this nature would make for more orderly processions. Mr. Green has stated that he hopes to expand the grill and hot meal areas at the rush hours by setting up additional stations. Mr. Green is also plagued with the labor shortage, various outside pressures and lack of cooperation on the part of some individuals from both student and administrative factions.

Apparently last week one of our self-professed efficiency experts came up with a brain storm to have students buss their own dishes. The students who patronize the cafeteria want good food and relaxation, not the atmosphere of the UB dining hall which many of them attempt to escape from. I am sure that all concerned would agree that the additional expense of this service is negligible compared with the good will and additional patronage it produces. I once again petition the student body to be patient with Mr. Green. He has served us well in the past and will continue to supply us with good food at economical prices.

Before long the staff, the administration, and student leaders will meet to formulate an overall policy for the new student center. Your wishes and desires and constructive criticisms will be of paramount concern at this meeting. Let these be known to myself, student council members, or the University personnel so they may be considered and acted upon. Now is the time to speak up.

ON OTHER CAMPUSES

EVANSTON, ILL. (UPS) — A group of Northwestern University students, concerned over their role in the world today, are inviting some of the nation's best thinkers to a three-day symposium, Feb. 10-12, to discuss with them "Commitment in an Age of Anxiety."

The purpose of the symposium, according to its director, Joanne Fox, is to create among students an awareness of the necessity for some type of clearly-defined personal commitment in an age dominated by anxiety, uncertainty and a growing sense of purposelessness.

Although the symposium is endorsed by the university, the students have set it up on their own initiative, and the program will be financed from contributions by students at the university.

Among the speakers who have accepted invitations to the symposium are: James M. Landis, former Dean of Harvard Law School; Arthur Larson, director of the World Rule of Law Center at Duke University; and Gordon Craig, professor of history at Princeton University.

Northwestern University Vice-President and Dean of Faculties Payson S. Wild said of the symposium that at a time when college students are being criticized for being indifferent to world problems, it is encouraging to find young people who are eager to be active in the realm of ideas.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS. — A controversy has arisen on the Springfield College campus over a student's right to wear a beard.

The student, who has been sporting the facial outgrowth for some time now, was threatened with expulsion from one of his classes, because the instructor in the class felt that the beard was not in good taste. According to the instructor, students have no right to determine their personal appearance and must conform to the standards of accepted taste.

As of now, the student still has his beard, for he has been given no definite orders by the dean to shave it off. He strongly believes in individualism in matters such as these, and states: "What is wrong with individualism? It would definitely be an unexciting universe if everyone was a conformist and non-believer in individualism."

Along Park Place

with ED COFFEY and LILA SOLDANI

The grind of going back to the books is here again. We can put away either the suntan oil or the skiis and head to the library for a few hoi-polloi hours of cram. A few familiar faces have left and a few more delightful smiles are floating around asking where this or that building is located. Somehow, even with all the fun of a vacation behind us and all the gripes and frustrations that we can expect ahead of us, we still have to admit that it is good to be back. The new system of having the marks posted rather than picked up at registration is the baby of some idealistically minded monster — what happens when the instructor doesn't post the marks until a week has gone by? Some of the more discreet instructors cut the list of names off of the I B M sheets and the students get their grades by using the student numbers. The other lists, with the names left on them so that the student does not have to tax his brain to remember his number, are the subject of much study, comparison and scrutiny. Have you ever tried to find out what grade a student received by going to the Records Office?

If any of the male hustlers on this campus are interested in meeting some of the Boston area girls, try taking the 7:05 out of Pennsylvania Station on a Sunday night. It may not have all the glamour involved in a trip to Lauderdale, but it sure is a heck of a lot cheaper. The train looks like a special to the dorms of the Boston colleges and universities. Question on campus — "How successful will the Sweetheart Ball be in the new Student Center?" Talk is that there are to be no tables, just chairs. One UBite was known to have remarked that he really liked the idea. He said that he hadn't been to a dance like that since he left high school.

Heard in a pool room during the vacation, "I am engaged but I don't want it to be in Along Park Place because I have something going for me on campus." Lots of luck in your coming married life — you'll need all the luck you can get. Carnegie Hall and Schippers was excellent. April 14 is a big day on the Theta Sigma calendar — Bob Anderson and Kathy Nelson, Jack Stewart and Dian Doda, Ollie Tenney and Pat Gunther are all getting married! Three brothers taking the big step in a twenty-four hour time lapse. Louise — what in the world is a soapstone? Congrats to Lenny and Alva and to Al Dunn and Linda Wasserman on their pinnings. Skating was real fine on Lake Forest.

Dr. van der Kroef Publishes Articles

Dr. Justus M. Van der Kroef, associate professor of sociology and philosophy at the University, has recently had several articles published in leading magazines concerning current affairs in the Far East.

These publications include: "Recent Developments in West New Guinea," appearing in "Pacific Affairs," Fall, 1961; "The West New Guinea Problem," for "The World Today" (Royal Institute of International Affairs, London), November, 1961; "The South Moluccan Republic After Ten Years," in "Justice Dans Le Monde" (University of Louvain, Belgium), December, 1961—a special issue on national self-determination; "Indonesian Communism at the Crossroads," in the "Foreign Policy Bulletin," November, 1961; and "Recent Trends in Indonesian Islam," for "The Muslim World," January, 1962.

Dr. Van der Kroef's paper, "Indonesia in the Cold War," originally published in "Current History," February, 1960, has recently been reprinted for circulation as a study paper at the War College, Air University, Maxwell Airforce Base, Alabama.

An authority on modern Southeast Asian affairs, Prof. Van der Kroef has been invited to contribute an article embodying his views on the current crisis in West New Guinea to a symposium appearing in the March, 1962 issue of "The Australian Quarterly," a publication of the Australian Institute of Political Science.

Recent acceptances include articles for the "Revisita Mexicana de Sociologia," "France-Asia," "Revisita de Economia y Estadística" and "The China Quarterly." Dr. Van der Kroef is now completing a book-length manuscript on "The Communist Party of Indonesia; Its History, Program and Organization," which has been accepted for publication in the fall of 1962 by the Institute of Pacific Relations, New York.

Nonay Paintings on Exhibit in Cultural Center

The University currently has an art exhibit of the paintings of Paul Nonay, famed abstract painter, in the Cultural Center of the University's Carlson Library. The exhibit is free and open to the public on weekdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturdays 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., and Sunday 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. The exhibit will be held through Feb. 19.

Mr. Nonay's paintings have been exhibited in numerous national competitive shows as well as in several one-man shows. His pallet is simple, showing mainly a range of warm colors, and his paintings can be described as abstract and semi-abstract landscapes and seascapes with a lyrical quality.

Born in Rumania, Mr. Nonay received his baccalaureat at a lyceum. He continued his studies with Professor Stefan Szonyi at the Royal Academy of Fine Art in Budapest and at the Munich Academy of Fine Art with Professor H. Goett.

Mr. Nonay teaches at the Silvermine College of Art and at the University. He is also a director of the Rowayton Art Center and a member of the Silvermine Guild of Artists and the Connecticut Academy of Fine Art.

Aron to Address Alliance Tomorrow

Robert Aron, author and former member of General de Gaulle's Government, will address members of the Alliance Francaise du Comte de Fairfield tomorrow evening at 8:15 p.m. in the Cultural Center of the Library. He will speak on "The Political Methods of General de Gaulle."

The lecturer gained fame in 1931 when he published his essay "Decadence of the French Nation," followed in 1933 by "The American Cancer" and the "Necessary Revolution."

In addition to his "History of Vichy" and "History of the Liberation of France" he has published several religious books, among which "Jesus of Nazareth, the Hidden Years" won the French Femina award in 1961 and is now being translated into English.

Area Firms Invited to Take Part In Student Exchange Program

Area firms have been invited to take part in a world-wide foreign student exchange program in co-operation with the University and Yale University. The program would lead to temporary employment of foreign students by local firms and enable University and Yale students to work and study abroad.

The International Association of Students in Economics and Commerce, (AIESEC), which includes some 200 chapters in 28 countries of the Western world, is sponsor of the unique program. Chapters of AIESEC have been established at the University and Yale.

The Bridgeport Chamber of Commerce and the Manufacturers Association of Bridgeport have both pledged cooperation in the unique undertaking. Under the program, area businessmen and industrialists are invited to employ a foreign "traineeship" student for a period of from two to six months at a salary ranging from $60 to $75 per week. For each foreign student employed in this area through AIESEC an opening is made available for a University or Yale student in one of the 28 participating countries abroad.

The "traineeship" program offers an excellent opportunity for foreign students to learn first hand how American business and industry functions and gives U.S. students a chance to broaden their business training by work and study abroad. Participation in the program is limited to upper class or graduate students who are specializing in business or economics. Employment opportunities are generally requested during the summer vacation period, beginning in the latter part of June.

Student participants pay for their own transportation abroad, with local AIESEC chapters responsible for finding housing and providing cultural and recreational activities beyond the regular work assignment. Participating firms may indicate from which of the countries they would prefer a trainee.

AIESEC chapters are located in most European countries, four in West Africa and five in South America.

Miss Karin Pedersen, of Aarhus, Denmark, a member of AIESEC and currently studying at the University, has organized the local University chapter.

HOME FOR 400 COEDS—Construction of the new dorms at Marina Circle will add 400 coeds to the campus population in September. Progress on the buildings is proceeding according to schedule.

BOB DIKRANIAN climaxed a brilliant soccer career at the University by being named to the All-American Soccer Squad. He is the fourth UB player named to that honor.

Gomez Elected To N. E. Society

Sam Gomez, assistant professor of education at the University, was recently elected Secretary-treasurer of the New England Philosophy of Education Society for the 1962 year.

The society is composed of a group of professors who instruct in the field of history and philosophy of education in New England colleges and universities.

Professor Gomez, who joined the University faculty in September, 1960, is active in other educational associations, holding membership in the National Educational Association, Phi Delta Kappa, American Association of University Professors, Alpha Kappa Delta National Honor Society, and the John Dewey Society.

Used Book Sale Begins At Alumni

If you are in the market for selling or buying used textbooks, then come to the Alumni Hall Student Board of Directors' Used Book Sale. Textbooks will be accepted on consignment from students who will receive a numbered receipt upon presentation of their books. Part of this receipt will be attached to the textbooks for identification purposes. After the sale of the book, the receipt number will be publicized so that the owner may receive payment at specified times. Books are being accepted through tomorrow from 9-11 a.m., 2-3:40 p.m., and 7-9 p.m. Books will be on sale until Feb. 9 from 11-1 p.m., 4-5 p.m., and 8-10:15 p.m.

The books will be sold for the price that is set by the owner plus a small service fee in order to cover nominal expenses. The sale will be held in the Arts and Crafts Room, on the second floor of the Student Center.

38 Convocations Set For Spring Semester

Senator Barry Goldwater, of Arizona, will be the keynote speaker at the Frank Jacoby Brotherhood Lecture on Feb. 21, to head a list of 38 convocations scheduled by the University for the spring semester.

The convocation agenda, largest in the history of the University, consists of lectures by authorities in various fields, lectures by members of the UB faculty, six music concerts, and five foreign film classics. The events are all open to the public and free, except the Foreign Film Festival, for which there will be a nominal admission charge of $1.50.

Other celebrities slated to visit the University campus, in addition to Senator Goldwater, are: Hisham Omayad, Chief, Ghana Information, U.S.A.; J. van den Gobaert, Director, Netherlands Information Service, N.Y.; Aissa Benchekroun, First Secretary, Permanent Mission of Morocco to the United Nations; and Michael Struelens, Chief, Katanga Information Services.

Audio-Visual Exhibit Scheduled

An all-day exhibit of audio-visual materials will be held at the audio-visual center of the University on Friday, Feb. 2, according to Dr. David M. Silverstone, director of the center. The program will run from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the A-V center located in the Dana Science building.

Joel F. Maurer and James Kascevos, representatives of the Denoyer-Geppert company, will arrange a display of maps, globes, charts, filmstrips and records. Free literature and information will also be available.

University students, faculty members, and area teachers have been invited to attend the exhibition. Interested parties are also welcome, Dr. Silverstone stated.

Student Of the Week

Frank Lester, a 21 year old native of Brooklyn, New York, is currently a senior majoring in economics. He is serving as a research assistant to Dr. Charles Stokes, Chairman of the Economics Department, on a work scholarship, and hopes to go into business with a shipping firm after completing graduate school in the Midwest.

Lester has actively participated in the University's A Cappella Choir as a baritone soloist for three years. He also sings with the United Ensemble of Bridgeport, a group which concentrates mainly on show tunes and pops. Future plans for the Ensemble include a television appearance in either February or March.

Lester was treasurer of the Inter Fraternity Council during the 1960-61 school year, and was elected president of that organization for the current two semesters. A member of Kappa Beta Rho Fraternity for two and one half years, he was that group's social chairman as a junior.

Lester has also been a member of the University's nationally acclaimed soccer team for four years, and is serving on the Class of '62's senior week committee. He plans to be married to Joyce Gillespie of Gettysburg College this August.

Maryland Gymkana Troupe At Gym Tomorrow Night

The first New England appearance of the University of Maryland Gymkana troupe, consisting of 32 gymnastic experts, will be presented by the Arnold College division of the University Friday Feb. 2, at 8 p.m. in the Gym.

The troupe, founded 16 years ago by Dr. David Field, director of the Arnold College Division is composed of 22 male and 10 female students who will exhibit their athletic prowess in a number of events. Pyramid building, trampoline comedy, vaulting, handbalancing, juggling, and other gymnastic allied activities, totaling 16 years of experience and learning, will be presented for the pleasure of adults and children alike.

Gymkana, interpreted as "gym" for gymnastics and "kana" for showmanship, began on the Maryland campus with only six members. The troupe now performs in such countries as Scotland, Greenland, Bermuda, the Azores and throughout the United States.

Tickets which are 50 cents for students and $1.00 for adults may be purchased at the following locations: Bridgeport Turner's Association, 1790 Main street; Polish Falcon hall, 634 Main street; National Social Gymnastic Union, 523 Hallet street; Slovak Social Gymnastic Union, 764 Hallet street, and at the University Gym.

possibility. I believe he should be reminded of Philip Jessup and Owen Lattimore, (known communists) who, when in the State Department, helped pioneer the smear campaign against Chiang Kai Shek when he was fighting the communists in China.

But let us look at the question at hand. The United Nations is trying to force Moise Tshombe and the Katangan people under the control of the Adoula government; a government that is run by pro-communist sympathizers. This atrocity which our State Department is supporting is as treasonable as when it let China slip into the hands of the communists, partly on the advice of Ambassador Philip Jessup and Owen Lattimore, who was the chief of Pacific operations for the Office of War Information.

Secondly, the student accused the YAF of ridiculing the Honorable Abraham Ribicoff. YAF did not ridicule Mr. Ribicoff, but questioned the validity of his statement - a statement in which he mistakenly assumed that 180,000,000 Americans are 100 per cent behind President Kennedy's proposed compulsory medical plan for the aged.

Nine Games Scheduled for Gridders in '62

The University varsity football team will play a nine game schedule in 1962, adding four new opponents, according to Dr. Herbert S. Glines, director of athletics.

Relationship with Hofstra college, perennial powerhouse on the gridiron, will again be resumed after a year's lapse.

The Purple Knights will also meet Ithaca College, N.Y.; Cortland State college, N.Y.; and Bridgewater State Teacher's college, Mass.

The UB squad will not meet Colby, Upsala, C.W. Post, or Norwich University this campaign. This year's opening contest will be on Sept. 15, a week earlier than past seasons, in a home game against Central Connecticut State college. The American International College game at Springfield, Mass. on Nov. 10, will conclude the UB schedule.

Home games for the 1962 season will be with Central Conn., Southern Conn., Cortland State, Hofstra, and Bridgewater State. On the road the Purple Knights will face Northeastern, Ithaca, King's Point, and A.I.C.

The schedule: — Sept. 15, Central Conn., home; Sept. 22, Southern Conn., home; Sept. 29, Northeastern U., away; Oct. 6, Cortland State, home; Oct. 13, Hofstra College, home; Oct. 20, Ithaca, away; Oct. 27, U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, away; Nov. 3, Bridgewater State, home; Nov. 10, American International College, away.

Knights in Near Upset Of Fairfield U., 84-78

by Dick Sharpe

On Jan. 13, the University lost to a favored Fairfield University five, 84-78, before a turn-away crowd on the loser's home court.

The victory was up in the air until the final 34 seconds when Nick Macarchuk netted two free throws and scored on a layup to ice the game for the Stags. It was Fairfield's 19th consecutive triumph over a Tri-State opponent.

The Stags jumped off to a quick 6-0 lead with only one minute elapsed in the game, but UB fought back and knotted the score at 36 apiece with two minutes to play until halftime. At this time Joe Yasinski was taken out of the game with three personal fouls. With UB's top rebounder on the bench, Fairfield scored 10 straight points to lead at halftime, 46-36.

In the second half the Purple Knights, led by the scoring of Danny Morello and the rebounding of Yasinski, narrowed the 10 point spread to two with just 34 seconds remaining. At this time, Macarchuk took charge of the game by scoring four points. The major factor in the game was the fouling out of Yasinski with more than three minutes to play.

The Stag's Bob Hutter was the game's leading scorer with 21 points, while Macarchuk netted 21 and Captain Bobby Jenkins scored 17. The Knights, with five men in double figures, were led by Morello who netted 20 points. Other scorers were Yasinski with 16, Joe Troiano with 11, and Rick Colonsse and Gary Notice who hit 10 apiece.

On Jan. 10, the University edged a strong Hartford University five, 57-55, at the capital city. In the first half UB played a sloppy game of basketball, finding themselves on the short end of a 28-23 score at the intermission. The Knights caught fire in the second half, though, and registered 34 points while holding the opposition to 27.

Morello ripped the cords for 14 points while jumping Joe Yasinski and Fred Schack each scored 10. Hartford's Bill McQuagga took scoring honors with 23 points.

On Jan. 8 the Purple Knights were trounced by a highly touted, nationally ranked St. John's five, 108-84, before a jam-packed Gym of enthusiastic UB rooters.

The first eight minutes of the game were evenly played, but the Redmen broke the game wide open by outscoring UB, 31-2, over a four minute period. The major difference in the game was the height advantage held by St. John's. UB's tallest man is 6'4", while St. John's had three starters on the floor at that height or taller. With St. John's controlling the backboards, UB normally could get only one shot away, while the Redmen followed up each shot by garnering their own rebounds.

Morello was the game's leading scorer with 34 points, while Yasinski netted 23. St. John's was led by All-American candidate Leroy Ellis who scored 27 points and dominated the backboards. Kevin Loughery contributed 23 and Willie Hall scored 14.

The season's total scoring average, up to and including the Fairfield game, showed the Knights with 79.4 points and the opposition with 78.9 points per game.

Leading the Purple and White squad with 21.9 points per game is Dan Morello, a six foot forward. In the 12 games played Morello has 263 points while the number two man, Joe Yasinski, has 192 and a 16 point average per game. Morello also leads in the Tri-State League with a 25 average tally and Yasinski stands with a 20.7.

In the rebounding department, Yasinski, Rick Colonsse and Morello are leading the Knights in that order.
